

Alex Olicheski

Performance Test Engineering Senior Analyst

alexolicheski@gmail.com

Experience

Performance Test Engineering Senior Analyst at Dell

October 2012 - Present (2 years 8 months)

Performance Testing and Tuning • Consider performance versus function during design phase. • Construct and clearly communicate meaningful test plan and results documentation. • Design and implement tests to examine the responsiveness, throughput, scalability and stability of software applications and their hardware infrastructure utilizing industry standard tools. • Troubleshoot and correct software integration, functionality and platform compatibility issues • Measure application and infrastructure performance to determine if planned performance criteria has been achieved. • Mentor junior performance engineers, development teams, database administrators, and systems engineers to drive code, infrastructure, and architecture changes. Test Plan Development Testing Practices and Procedures Develop and Execute Software testing Test Automation Scripting/Coding Test Data Management Post Testing Evaluation Project management Test Artifact Reviews and Walkthroughs Test Automation Planning/Design/Coding Defect Tracking Adherence – Testing SDLC Process Knowledge and Adherence Strategic Thinking Environment Management

1 recommendation available upon request

Performance Test Engineering Analyst at Dell

July 2009 - October 2012 (3 years 4 months)

- Perform performance tests executions and creation of performance reports. - Interact with Business Partners and Software Development Architects/Analysts to support non-functional requirements definition for each specific application that would require performance assessment - Define and create performance test specifications to assess the software and hardware performance as defined in the related requirements documentation - Performance scenarios and artifacts development. - Identify and isolate performance issues and make recommendations. - Participate actively and effectively on the defect tracking cycle. - Performs estimation efforts on projects. - Assists program or process development and implementation. - Coordinates activities and processes. - Good working knowledge and demonstrated ability utilizing systems, tools and procedures related to performance test engineering. - Creates test data to thoroughly test positive and negative program logic. - Assists in the analyzing of project requirements and design. - Exercises judgment within defined procedures and practices to determine appropriate test plans. - Interacts with other testing members, leader and moderate - - Contributes to area by ensuring quality of output. - Assumes responsibility to improve service, efficiency and quality of work. - Applies research, information gathering and analytical and interpretation skills to problems of diverse scope. - Develops solutions to a variety of problems of moderate complexity. - Interprets generally defined practices and methods. - Recognizes and acts on inconsistencies in data or results and escalates unusual problems.

Project Analyst / Pilot Coordinator at Dell

September 2005 - July 2009 (3 years 11 months)

Manufacturing Senior Support Specialist at Dell

September 2005 - September 2006 (1 year 1 month)

As Test Engineering member, I worked fixing systems on manufacturing floor, providing a great quality service and customer experience. Improved skills on fail analysis, manufacturing processes, processes priority, software and systems environment, etc

1 recommendation available upon request

Tech Support Technician at Unisys do Brasil LTDA

August 2002 - September 2005 (3 years 2 months)

I worked in Dell Client Call Center, helping customers to fix issues. Skills on all client platforms, customer relationship, measure tools and team work.

Languages

English

(Full professional proficiency)

Skills & Expertise

English

Team Leadership

Strategic Communications

Technical Leadership

Problem Solving

Programming

SOA Testing

Oracle Applications

Microsoft SQL Server

LoadRunner

Performance Testing Tools

BPMN

Schedules

WBS

Technical Reports

Technical Presentations

Project Coordination

Project Planning

Social Skills

Communication Skills

Work Ethic

Proactive self-starter

IT Service Management

Quality Center

Analysis

ITIL

Databases

Test Planning

Testing

HP Quality Center

Project Management

SDLC

SQL

Education

ULBRA

Bachelor's degree, Information Technology, 2009 - 2013

Metrocamp/IBTA - Campinas

Bachelor, Computing, Information Technology, 2006 - 2009

SENAI - Visconde de Mauá

Technician, Industrial Computing, 2001 - 2004

Alex Olicheski

Performance Test Engineering Senior Analyst

alexolicheski@gmail.com

2 people have recommended Alex

"Alex is a extremely rare kind of person. He is always looking the positive advantage in any subject and situation at working and personal live. Entusiast of better approaches and always looking forward to problems, he is absolutly essencial to any environment, a must have person in any team. I enjoyed so much working with him and he always teached me new ways to aproach problems and gave me an overview of the role bussiness scenario we where working with, because of his enormous experience and knowledge. A leader of the best kind. Look no further this is the man."

— Wandernei K. Junior, worked directly with Alex

"Alex is a very energetic and enthusiastic person. In his job he was challenged to learn his new role and ramp up in a very short period and he did it very well and soon after that he was able to teach others. He is an intelligent, fast learner and dedicated professional, and would be a valuable asset to any company."

— Alexandro Gonçalves, Manufacturing Engineer Senior Analyst, Dell Inc., managed Alex indirectly at Dell Computadores do Brasil LTDA

Contact Alex on LinkedIn